HOUSE MANAGER: David Kronenberg

OVERVIEW: The show ran smoothly, for the most part. There were major issues with people finding their way to the theatre. Patrons came up to house managers and ushers complaining that the doors were locked on the Michigan Ave. entrance. There were no apparent signs that the doors were locked and they would have to walk around to the Wabash entrance. An email has been sent to the production manager and director of CSO, so hopefully something can be done about this for the next performance.

HOUSE NOTES:

GENERAL NOTES: MAJOR issues with the costumer. They caused a lot of drama backstage and make many of the actors feel uncomfortable. Emails have been sent out to PM and General Director. Both myself and the Director have spoken to several cast members collecting information about what happened.

TECH NOTES: Major light issues with the upstage floor lights, had to unplug most of them.
They will not be in use for performance #2
